DRAWING & PAINTING

RODNEY TITUS DRAWING I/II.6

Instruction T-Th Early Eve
Independent Studio Mon All Morn
Studio 13, one course credit, $200
“Primary concern in this course will be working from a source. Models and still-life.”

LEO VALLEDOR DRAWING I/II.9s

Instruction Late Sat Morn
Independent Studio Early Sat Morn
Studio 13, ½ course credit, $100
“The course will be structured around a main assignment which is designed to expand the student’s range of techniques and his sense of possibilities in the making of visual images. It will tap his personal ideas as the basis and path to his art. Individual instruction will be given according to the student’s intentions and ability.”

MARY O’NEAL DRAWING II/III.10e

Instruction T-Th Early Eve
Independent Studio T-Th Late Eve
Studio 113, one course credit, $200
“This drawing course is about hard work—reams and reams of hard work.”

DAVID HANNAH DRAWING II/III.11

Instruction M-W Early Eve
Independent Studio M-W Late Eve
Studio 113, one course credit, $200

CARLOS VILLA DRAWING I/II/III.17e

Instruction M-W Early Eve
Independent Studio M-W Late Eve
Studio 13, one course credit, $200
“Still life, models, criticism—all media.”

WILLIAM PARKER PAINTING I.6e

Instruction T-Th Early Eve
Independent Studio T-Th Late Eve
Studio 115, one course credit, $200
“An introduction to painting with an emphasis on techniques and on working from source.”

FRANKLIN WILLIAMS PAINTING I.7e

Instruction M-W Early Eve
Independent Studio M-W Late Eve
Studio 114, one course credit, $200
“Working toward an investigation of the 5 senses—sight, smell, hearing, feeling, taste. Working with those materials that interest the student at the moment. Investigation of 2 and 3-dimensional elements, with emphasis on imagination.”

IVAN MAJDRAKOFF PAINTING I/II.9e

Instruction Late Mon Eve
Independent Studio Late Wed Eve
Studio 115, ½ course credit, $100
“Students will receive individual instruction. Models and other visual material are available although some students will prefer to use neither. Basic technical advice will be offered; fundamental painting techniques and attitudes will be demonstrated; class discussion critiques.”

GAGE TAYLOR PAINTING I/II/III.10s

Instruction Early Sat Aft
Independent Studio Late Sat Aft
Studio 114, ½ course credit, $100
“Will meet outdoors whenever possible (Golden Gate Park and Mt. Tamalpais). This course will explore various problems and aspects of painting landscapes in oils.”

JOE ODDO PAINTING I/II.15

Instruction M-W All Eve
Independent Studio Fri All Eve
Studio 116, 2 course credits, $400
“Emphasis will be on working from direct observation and the combining of observed elements into a cohesive whole. We will explore the possibilities inherent in the figure, still-life, interior space and landscape. The class will be more rigidly structured than most, therefore regular attendance will be required.”

MARY O’NEAL PAINTING II/III.18

Instruction T-Th Early Eve
Independent Studio T-Th Late Eve
Studio 116, one course credit, $200
“The course will deal with 2 things: the figure as an element; and the idea of non-objective, non-referral art. The 1st segment will periodically require that students shed their own garments, the rationale, if not evident, to erase the area of voyeurism which generally enshrouds figure painting and to eliminate the student’s dependency upon a model who is stoically encased in a static set-up. If students are not ready for this kind of exposure, it is recommended that they not enroll. The 2nd segment of the course is based heavily on drawing and will push the individual student to arrive at, as a very young painter, his own ideas about what his art means.”

JACK FROST PAINTING II/III.19e

Instruction T-Th Early Eve
Independent Studio T-Th Late Eve
Studio 114, one course credit, $200

SCULPTURE AND CERAMICS

EDWIN PICKETT SCULPTURE I/II/III.9e

Instruction M-W Late Eve
Independent Studio T-Th Late Eve
Studio 104, one course credit, $200
“For advanced and beginning students, to encompass as comprehensive a range of materials and attitudes as possible.”

RICHARD BERGER SCULPTURE I/II/III.10s

Instruction Early Sat Aft
Independent Studio Late Sat Aft
Studio 104, ½ course credit, $100
“Students will be acquainted with a broader visual vocabulary through slide presentations of contemporary sculpture and will be taught to implement that vocabulary 3-dimensionally in wood, plaster, fiber-glass, metal and other materials.”

RICHARD SHAW CERAMICS I/II.2

Instruction M-W Early Eve
Independent Studio M-W Late Eve
Studio 106, one course credit, $200
“Using clay as an extension of your ideas in painting, sculpture, photography. Earthenware clay, low fire glazes, techniques in the wheel, hand building, slip casting and glaze techniques.”

ROBERT RASMUSSEN CERAMICS I/II.3

Instruction T-Th Early Eve

PRINTMAKING

RICHARD GRAF LITHOGRAPHY I/II.3

Instruction Tues All Eve
Independent Studio Th All Eve
Studio 4, one course credit, $200
“A basic course in the techniques of metal plate and photo-lithography. The primary emphasis of the course will be to develop through practical application the personal insights necessary for creating and successfully printing graphic images. Concern for the rationale of printmaking as it affects a synthesis in the student’s experience between art and technique will be an important aspect of this first semester of lithography.”

GERALD GOOCH LITHOGRAPHY I/II/III.4e

Instruction Mon All Eve
Independent Studio W All Eve
Studio 4, one course credit, $200
“Students will be taught to simplify the technique of lithography and concentrate on personal presentation.”

SPECIAL CLASSES

DAVID McMILLAN ARTS IN THE NOW HUMANITIES V.5

Instruction Weds 7:30-10:00
Lecture Hall, ½ course credit, $100
Tuition for audit students $50
“The creative arts of today are examined in relation to their duality and their origin in time. From religion/art and surrealism as a spiritual philosophy the sessions continue with Animism, Zen Buddhism and Hindu Myths, the Primitive Arts of India, Pre-historic Cave Paintings and Child Art. The course then explores Surrealism in a variety of sessions on surrealist films, dance, theatre, contemporary poetry, music, color, and the movement itself. The psychology behind the Arts of Now is dramatized by three unique sessions: Image Formation and Drugs; Non-Visual Modes of Perception; and Laser Technology vs. New Zealand Head Hunting. Guest speakers, guest performing artists with emphasis on visual learning through an extensive use of films and original slides.”
